Background info for the trainer/teacher of the online course:

Prevent sexual harassment – talking about boundaries and culture

The aim of the course

The aim of this course is to give the participants insight into how to talk/communicate about sexual harassment in dealing with a sexual harassment case, and how to practice communicating about boundaries and culture in the workplace in order to prevent sexual harassment all together.

Furthermore, the aim is to present both important, fundamental knowledge about sexual harassment and concrete tools that may help the participants in their own future preventive work.

About the PowerPoint:

The entire course is contained in the PowerPoint which consists of 10 slides.

Everything that is thought relevant for the teacher to say about each slide is written out in the note below each slide. The text in the notes that are in parenthesis () is meant as a note to the teacher.

The quiz/exercise:

This course has two exercises.

The first exercise is presented in slide six and this exercise is meant to activate the participants and their creativity, and to make them come up with concrete ideas about how to do preventive work in their own workplace after the course has ended.

The second exercise is a final quiz which is not a multiple-choice quiz (there are no suggested answers to the questions that the participants must choose between). Instead, the participants will have to formulate their own answer to each of the six questions and the questions are designed so that several answers can be correct. The aim of this final quiz is to test whether the learnings of the course have really sunk in.

Estimated time of the course:

1-1,5 hour
